FAQ’s

Q. How should I encourage my child to read?
A. You should talk with your child before he/she even speaks. This will help your child to learn important language skills. Make reading a ritual at home. Take time out from your daily routine and read to and with your child at least thirty minutes each day. Read in front of your child to model good reading habits. This will set an example for your child and he/she will get motivated to read daily.

Q. When should I start reading with my child?
A. The need of each child is different and you should look out for the signs that your child indicates by his/her behaviour. Do motivate your child to get an interest in books from the earliest age by reading aloud to your child, joining a nearby library and reading yourself in front of your child.

Q. My child has already started reading at school. Won’t he/she get confused?
A. Read & Shine programme takes care of readability and understanding of children at all stages. It provides valuable reading practice to children even if your child has been taught by an entirely different approach. Read & Shine programme assists children and adds to what they have already read at school.

Q. My child has been reading for more than a year at school but he/she doesn’t seem to be achieving anything. Will your programme help?
A. Every child is different, therefore, many children find reading difficult in the early stages of their life. There could be various reasons supporting this logic that have nothing to do with intelligence or specific learning disabilities such as dyslexia. Even the sharp children can often seem to become stagnant once they have mastered the basics. Read & Shine provides a structured and organized approach which teaches or reinforces essential phonic knowledge, enabling children to interpret even unfamiliar words effectively.

Q. My child can read a little already. Does he/she really need to start with level 1?
A. You may realize that it is comforting to start at a level or two below your child’s capability and progress quickly and even if children find the text easy, they will enjoy all the stories. If your child is acquainted with all the letters of the alphabet, you could start with level 2 or 3 and if he/she knows all the phonemes, you can go on to level 4.
